A NOTE FROM JIM:

We have so much to be thankful for. I know it is the season, but no matter the date, we have so much to be thankful for.

I encourage all of us not look for what we don't have, but for what we do have.

While we should always be thankful and to find joy in all things is a great rule to live by at any time, it is especially true during a holiday season in the midst of a pandemic, when supply chain problems are ruling the business world, and political fighting and polarization has become normalized to an extent that is threatening to rip the country apart.

If you watch TV or get news from social media, you see the problems. So I encourage you to tune that noise out, and focus on the good.

Focus on the wonderful people who live nearby and around the world, take in the goodness of your family, and of each other.

It may not be easy. We have been trained to look for the bad and the differences, but when you really try I am sure you will find that everyone is good and we are all much more similar than we have been trained to think.

Happy Thanksgiving!

Jim and all the great people at Jim's Park and Shop
