DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that nothing beats the mouthwatering aromas of a pot roast permeating the house on a crisp winter day? Unfortunately, too many pot roasts end up disappointing with a watery sauce, dry overcooked meat, and a flavor that doesn't live up to the promise of that aromal Never fear... here are a few LEON'S FOODIE secrets to a great pot roast every time, regardless of the recipe you're using.

First, choose the right cut of meat to begin with. If you start with a Leon's USDA Choice "Aged to Perfection" Roast, you have already taken the first step toward pot roast perfection.

Second, use a covered crockpot, Dutch oven or very heavy ceramic in order to produce moist radiant heat. Trapping the moisture is the key. The heavenly rich taste of a great pot roast occurs as a result of gentle steam rising to the lid, condensing and then dripping/basting back over the meat.

Never have your temp set higher than 350, in fact the lower the better if you're not in a rush! Over the long slow cooking process, the collagen in meat dissolves into gelatin, which helps to spread a rich meaty flavor throughout the roast. Don't add too much liquid. Whether using water, stock, beer or wine, you don't want to dilute the taste of that rich gravy.

Finally, sit down and enjoy your perfect roast with friends and/or family. They are always the final ingredients in making any meal taste better. That's why some days being average just isn't good enough, that's when you come to

CENTO CHEF'S DICED ITALIAN KITCHEN TOMATOES

San Marzano tomatoes are widely recognized by top chefs, Italian cooks and food aficionados as the gold standard for taste. Cento tomatoes are produced literally in the shadow of Mount Vesuvius. The rich volcanic soil, high water table and ideal Mediterranean microclimate all combine to make San Marzano tomatoes the premier choice for any recipe. The perfect quick and healthy base for any marinara, pizza sauce or tomato based soup.

BECHTLE TRADITIONAL GERMAN EGG NOODLES BAVARIAN OR SPAETZLE

Imported from Germany! Originally a poor man's dish, then a German national dish, today a highly valued delicacy, that is also served in first-class hotels! They cook in five minutes and are simply delicious all by themselves. They are a super addition to most all soups or eaten as Germans eat them...in place of a potato.

ALESSI MEAL SOUPS

There is nothing quite as satisfying as a bowl of rich, hearty soup. Soups are eaten in almost every corner of the world and over the years, certain soups have become associated with particular countries. Italy is no exception, with several regions boasting claim to some of the world's best soups.

In this soup display is our rendition on five of these soups: Sicilian Lentil, Neapolitan Bean, Sicilian Split Pea, Tuscan White Bean & Sicilian Chicken Noodle. Buon Appetito!

BROTHERS GERARD BAKING CO. SCONES

When a few simple ingredients come together in just the right way, a tradition is born. That's how the Charleston bakery that inspired Brothers Gerard brand thrived for more than a century. Their recipe for what they put into their scones started by deciding on what to leave out. You'd never find bleached flour, trans fats, or preservatives in that South Carolina kitchen, and you'll never find them in these scones.
