HOT DIP GALVANIZED STEEL

Hot Dip Galvanizing Process

First, the product is dipped in acidic solution and rinsed with cold water to remove the grease, dirt, rust and scale. It is then dipped in a flux solution to remove the last traces of oxide and to wet the steel. When the clean iron is then dipped into a molten zinc solution (typically at 450°C), it forms zinc-iron layers by a metallurgical reaction between the iron and zinc.

BENEFITS

- Durable-Zinc Coating protects base steel from corrosion.
- Easy maintenance- Wipe it down a few times per year.
- Longevity- Can last for decades, esp. in harsh environments.
- Affordable- Cost less than stainless steel.
